

He appreciated that the Department was taking a critical approach to evaluating the effects of hunting and recommending permits and sharing that information with him in an open dialogue. Mr. Taylor also indicated his concerns about potential wind energy development to sage-grouse in Mono County.

Proposal source: Dan Taylor, Audubon California (oral comments on 6/30/11).

Response: The process outlined in the ISOR for recommending sage-grouse permits in California is based on one of the most conservative approaches of any state open to sage-grouse hunting. Sage-grouse hunt zones are established in areas where populations are considered healthy and hunting is not allowed in areas where populations are at risk of extirpation. In previous years, the Department has recommended substantial decreases in the number of permits issued in the state in an effort to reduce hunting mortality well below the threshold of additive mortality to the population. The maximum harvest potential of 5% of the fall population is the most conservative approach recommended in the scientific literature. Sage-grouse populations are currently near the highest levels ever documented in the hunt zones as the result of 4 consecutive years of good precipitation. Despite these substantial increases in population size and therefore allowable harvest, the Department has not recommended any increases in permits over the numbers established prior to the ESA candidacy decision when populations were smaller. Therefore, the maximum potential harvest ranges for this year actually ranges from 2.3 to 4.7%. The Department considers these harvest rates to be well below a level that could impact population growth rate.

- (b) Description of Proposed Action by Public: The California Outdoor Heritage Alliance (COHA) supported the Alternative (a) identified in the ISOR for an early youth-only hunt the weekend prior to the general season for quail and chukar on the Mojave National Preserve similar to other youth hunts for turkeys and pheasants. COHA also expressed support for the sage-grouse hunt recommendation.

Proposal source: Mark Hennelly, California Outdoor Heritage Alliance (oral comments on 6/30/11).

Response: The Department does not recommend alternative (a) for an early youth-only hunt the weekend prior to the general season on the Mohave National Preserve. There have been increasing attempts to foster hunter recruitment and retention throughout the United States to increase support for wildlife conservation. Many states, including California, have adopted special hunting regulations or established programs to facilitate the entry of new hunters into the activity. The Department has several concerns about this specific proposal. An earlier opening date will mean that younger, less flight capable birds may be available for harvest and would be concentrated around water sources. This special opportunity in an area as large as Mojave National Preserve may also create enforcement difficulties. It is not clear why the Mojave National Preserve can't establish and conduct another successful hunting experience without the proposed regulation change. Unlike other special opportunities for beginning hunters, this proposal requires the creation of new hunting zone whereas other special hunts were the addition of special hunting days statewide or within existing hunting zones. This would complicate hunting regulations further. Furthermore, there is little evidence that suggests the proliferation of special opportunities for beginning hunters has affected the recruitment or retention of new hunters. Special opportunities sometimes come at the cost of opportunity for adult hunters, who have commented that special pre-season hunts affect their enjoyment of the activity. There is little empirical evidence to support either perspective.

Updated Informative Digest (Policy Statement Overview)

Current regulations provide general hunting seasons for taking resident game birds. The Department is recommending 2 changes, including a range of permit numbers for the 2011 sage-grouse hunting season and changing the regulation for white-winged dove harvest to make it consistent with proposed changes to Federal regulations.

Existing regulations provide a number of permits for the general sage-grouse season in each of 4 zones. These specific numbers are replaced by a range of numbers for the 2011 season as listed below. The final number will be proposed in June after spring lek counts are completed and annual data are analyzed.

Permit ranges for sage-grouse hunting in 2011:

East Lassen: 0-50 (2-bird) permits
Central Lassen: 0-50 (2-bird) permits
North Mono: 0-100 (1-bird) permits
South Mono: 0-100 (1-bird) permits

Existing regulations in Section 300 (a)(3)(F)(2) provide for take by falconry and establish a 1 bird per day, 2 bird per season limit in the North Mono and South Mono zones. This regulation is inconsistent with subsections 300(a)(1)(D)(2) and 300 (a)(2)(D)(2) where the bag and possession limits are 1 per day and 1 per season, in the North Mono and South Mono zones.

Also, minor editorial changes are proposed to clarify and simplify the regulations.

Existing regulations permit white-winged dove harvest in San Bernardino, Riverside and Imperial counties. A proposal to amend the federal regulations to permit white-winged dove harvest throughout California and the entire Pacific Flyway has been made by the Pacific Flyway. If adopted by the Federal government, federal regulations would permit the harvest of white-winged doves throughout California. The proposal would make the state regulation consistent with the Federal regulation.

Additionally, an alternative is provided to consider an early youth-only hunt for chukar and quail in the Mojave National Preserve. This proposal from the National Park Service would provide for a youth-only hunt for chukar and quail for the first Saturday in October extending for two days. Existing regulations for general quail season in Zone Q3 (balance of the state excluding Zone Q2) open the quail and chukar seasons on the third Saturday in October and extends through the last Sunday in January.

After completion of spring lek counts and subsequent population modeling and fall population projections, sage-grouse hunting permit ranges proposed in the Initial Statement of Reasons have been changed to specific permit recommendations by hunt zone as follows:

North Mono: 30, 1-bird permits

South Mono: 30, 1-bird permits

East Lassen: 20, 2-bird permits

Central Lassen: 11, 2-bird permits

Section 300, Title 14, is amended to read:
